Data Analytics Market Leader Selects Contracts 365 CLM Platform to Accelerate Contracting and Optimize Performance.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (PRWEB) September 24, 2020 -- Corridor Company, a leading enterprise contract management platform for Microsoft 365 customers, today announced 1010data, a longtime leading data analytics and market intelligence provider, selected Contracts 365 to serve as its foundation for contract management.

To support its growing operations, 1010data was looking for an easy-to-use enterprise contract management solution that would integrate with the company's existing strategic systems, most notably Microsoft Office 365. They needed a solution that would facilitate fast and easy, self-service contracting for the sales team but could also provide global internal visibility on the status of vendor contracts.

"To help 1010data maintain its position as the leading data analytics platform, we were looking for a way to streamline both sell-side and buy-side contract processes," said Steven Dimirsky, Chief Corporate Counsel at 1010data. "Aside from the technology requirements, we wanted to work with a company experienced in solving our distinct contract management challenges. 1010data chose Corridor Company and Contracts 365 because the platform promises to be easy and intuitive to use, and utilizes our existing Office 365 installation. Further, Corridor has the experience to support us as we continue to scale and grow."

"Industry leaders like 1010data are looking to optimize operational performance in every way, and contract management is increasingly seen as the focal point of such efforts," said Russ Edelman, CEO of Corridor Company. "We look forward to working with 1010data as it delivers on its vision."
